The Thirteenth Tale Diane Setterfield Tuesday, November 24th at 6:30 PM

Diane Setterfield's debut novel is a cleverly plotted, beautifully written homage to the classic romantic mystery novel. Setterfield weaves Jane Eyre into the substance of the plot and skillfully uses Gothic elements to reimagine a peculiar tale of madness, murder and dark secrets. Please contact Jan Manchester with questions at 798-3881.

E-NOTES FOR A SUSTAINABLE LIFE

Winter is around the corner. Time to think of ways to save energy!

1. Seal air leaks on exteriors walls, doors, & windows with caulk or weatherstripping. To check for leaks, hold a lit incense stick next to the opening and watch the smoke, or walk around with a damp hand to feel for air flow.

2. Add insulation to attic, exterior wall, and crawl spaces.

3. Replace or Clean Furnace Filters. Dirty or blocked furnace filters prevent airflow and force your furnace to use more energy - they also trap in air pollutants like bacteria, mold, and pollen. Either replace your filters every 1-2 months or check into installing permanent filters.Program Thermostats to reduce temperature when not at home.
