

Scott Spoolman is a science writer who has focused on the environmental sciences, especially those stories of natural science and the environment related to Wisconsin and surrounding states. He grew up in northern Wisconsin. After earning a master's degree from the University of Minnesota School of Journalism, he worked for several years as an editor in the publishing industry, specializing in textbooks and other educational materials. Since 1996, he has worked as a freelance writer for a variety of outlets and has coauthored several editions of a series of environmental science textbooks.

Wednesday, July 18th

6:30 PM

Rosemary Garfoot Public Library

2107 Julius St
Cross Plains WI
608-798-3881
www.rgpl.org

